Mining Statistics.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—David T. Day, chief of the division of mining statistics, has submitted a summary of the mineral products of the United States in 1887 in advance of the official report. The total value is $538,059,345. It shows a wonderful gain over 1886, and is $100,000,000 greater than the output of 1885. The United States leads the world in production in minerals. The principal gains in 1885 were in the production of metallic ores and fuels necessary for melting them. The production of pig iron alone was more than $20,000,000. The high price of copper caused a notable expansion in that industry. The product of coal is the largest ever recorded. Taken as a whole, the report shows great prosperity for the mining industry. The grand total value of more than a half billion dollars, the report says, resulted not only from an increase in quantity of minerals mined, but also from the general advance in prices in metals. It may be that several years before this total is exceeded, and the year 1888 will fall considerably below it. Among the many reasons of decrease this year is a decrease in railroad building.
